

Silviya Nora Kalnins

Deputy director of the Environmental Protection Department of the Ministry of Environmental Protection and Regional Development in Latvia. The Department covers a range of topics to secure environmental quality including water resource management, waste management, pollution prevention, radiation safety among others. Partakes in global environmental management issues, particularly on sound chemicals management through the Stockholm Convention on POPs and the Rotterdam Convention on prior informed consent.

Holds a PhD in environmental engineering (monitoring and evaluation) from the Rīga Technical University where she continues to provide lectures on environmental management. Began working at the Ministry in 2015 during Latvia's Presidency of the European Council. Prior to 2015 has worked as a consultant in environmental project/programme M&E and as a programme manager with the United Nations Developmental Programme in Latvia, Georgia and other Central and Eastern European countries.