

Marcus Carlsson Reich

Marcus is Deputy Director at the Sustainable Development Department at the Swedish Environmental Protection Agency. This Department's remit is to promote sustainable development and work for the generational goal of environmental policy adopted by the Swedish Parliament: to pass on to the next generation a society in which the main environmental issues have been resolved, without exacerbating environmental and health problems outside Sweden. The function of the Department is also to assist the Agency in coordinating knowledge development and its EU and international work and cooperation.

Marcus has a M.Sc. in Environmental Economics from the Swedish University of Agricultural Sciences, and a public service background at the Swedish EPA, Government Offices in Sweden, European Commission as a national expert, and the Swedish Permanent Representation to the EU in Brussels.
